

Written Examination for the ICPCP

At the end of the clerkship, a computer-generated self-evaluation of knowledge is a required component of the ICPCP. A week prior to the end of the clerkship, a link to the exam will be sent to you by Ms. Dolan-Auten. You will have 5 days to complete this 100-question multiple choice exam, which will cover both primary care (adult and pediatric) and psychiatry. Correctly answering 70% of the questions is required. If you correctly answer fewer than 70%, you will be asked to self-identify and attend the clerkship exam review held for all students at end of clerkship. This examination is primarily for formative and learning purposes.

You will be prepared for the psychiatry component of this examination by your clinical experiences, your participation in classroom activities, as well as your review of the recommended Psychiatry text and First Aid for Psychiatry.

You will be prepared for the primary care component of this examination by similar experiences. In addition, you are encouraged to read each of the articles listed as “required” for each of your case conferences and independently read from a textbook or other review source regarding each of the primary care conditions listed in the log at the end of your yellow book. We recommend you routinely read the articles from at least two weekly general medical journals (e.g., Lancet, New England Journal of Medicine, JAMA, and the British Medical Journal). Other resources may be found listed on the clerkship website.
