

Child and Family Traumatic Stress Intervention Peritraumatic Case Tally Sheet

The Child and Family Traumatic Stress Intervention (CFTSI) is a 5-8 session treatment for children ages 7-18 that is designed to reduce traumatic stress symptoms and the risk of onset of PTSD. CFTSI is implemented in the peritraumatic period, e.g. within 30-45 days after a potentially traumatic event, or after recent disclosure of physical or sexual abuse (for example, as seen in a CAC).

As part of the application process, your goal is to identify the number of children served by your agency/program during a one month period who: a) are ages 7-18; and b) have experienced a potentially traumatic event, or disclosed physical or sexual abuse, within the last 30 days. These children are candidates for assessment of traumatic stress symptoms and referral for CFTSI.

Directions: Indicate the numerical answer to each question in the chart below.

- 1) Identify the number of children ages 7-18 years old served by your agency.
- 2) Indicate the number of those children ages 7-18 who experienced each type of potentially traumatic event within the last 30 days (count each child in only one category, even if s/he experienced more than one trauma type).
- 3) Total the number of children ages 7-18 served by your agency in the past 30 days who have experienced any of the potentially traumatic events listed. For example, an agency may have served 200 children ages 7-18 in the last month. 50 may have experienced sexual abuse, 25 may have experienced physical abuse and 25 may have witnessed domestic violence. The total number of children ages 7 - 18 that experienced a traumatic event within the past 30 days would be 100.
